It is against this background that Cure My Nation Initiative enact poverty eradication policies which include vocational and entrepreneurship training, food and clothing items distribution, and establishment of small scale businesses for the vulnerable ones in the society.

OUR PROJECTS

1. HEALTH WITHOUT BORDERS

The focus areas of this initiative are:

- Sensitization: This area is where the rural dwellers are sensitized on the activities that trigger health degradation in the rural areas. The sensitization is done by visiting schools and communities.

- Voice: This priority addresses the need to make rural health more visible to key stakeholders, such as the government, the media and the general public, by highlighting challenges and good practices.
- Policy: This priority entails the rural-proofing of existing and new policies /guidelines and sensitizing them about their rights in the healthcare arena.
- Tests: The rural dwellers are given opportunity to partake in free blood sugar and blood pressure test.
- Implementation: This priority area focuses on how issues that causes poor health service delivery in the rural areas can be tackled by the government. Cure My nation will monitor and gather evidence on these issues and give them to the relevant stakeholders to act upon.

We do our best to collate every piece of information from rural communities and do proper analysis of the data gathered. We highlight advocacy opportunities and disseminate news and updates on issues that might otherwise go unreported.

2. YOUTHS SUSTAINABLE SKILLS AND EMPOWERMENT PROGRAM

The project goal is to empower rural youths with vocational skills in Digital marketing, graphics design, Adire and Batik Making, Shoe making, Cutting and sewing, Computer Technology and Paint Making. It is purported at poverty alleviation by addressing unemployment through imparting the aforementioned vocational skills in the youths so that the youths become active players in income generating activities hence improving their economic standards in the long run. The project realizes that youth empowerment has the basis for economic development of the community and of the whole nation at large.

TEACHERS' FRUITS

Teachers' fruits is the first teacher-students reunion platform in Africa initiated under the umbrella of Cure My Nation Initiative.

Across the world, nations recognize that their futures are linked to the quality of their education systems. Teachers are the most important part of whole education system. Effective teaching and learning activity is impossible to take place if teachers themselves are not motivated.

The reward that teachers most noticeably receive from their organization is pay, allowances and promotions etc. These rewards are statutory and only serve momentary purposes. However, our society needs to be aware that students that enjoyed good services rendered by teachers have a very big role to play in the lives of these professionals. Just as students need their teacher's knowledge, teachers need their students love and respect to live a fulfilled life.

Teachers' fruits obligation is to track, locate and appreciate teachers on our radio program for their commitment to teaching profession based on the request from their students. This will boost the morale of the teachers and change the popular notion that the reward of teacher is only in heaven. The resultant effect of this will be educational development in Nigeria.

COVID-19 FUND MONITORING SYSTEM.

Nigeria, Africa's most populous nation and the continent's largest oil producer is currently facing twin crises- a health epidemic caused by COVID-19 and economic crunch occasioned by corruption and global oil plunge. These resulted in government seeking help from local, international and private organizations to come to their aid in combating the epidemic. The government indeed was able to receive fund and materials amounting to billions of Naira.

However, corruption plagues financial management in Nigeria. Public officials can use a host of tricks to siphon off public funds, such as "creative accounting" and procurement irregularities. Often, corruption during project execution can be detected only by monitoring projects during and after the execution phase.

In this back drop, Cure My Nation Initiative management team decided to channel its resources to monitor government expenditures on COVID-19 and identify red flags or opportunity for corruption in the process; and in cases where the funds are already diverted or mismanaged by corrupt element in government, ensure that the looted funds are adequately recovered and perpetrators brought to book.
